Ingrid Ulrey

Public Health
Seattle & King County

Public Health—Seattle & King County is an agency that contributes to an age-friendly environment for all. Policy Director Ingrid Ulrey will discuss healthcare for homeless older adults; Alzheimer's disease as a public health crisis; and how the opioid crisis, gun violence, and sexually transmitted diseases impact people of all ages in our county.

New this year: subscribe to "Aging King County" on YouTube to view short video stories ("vlogs") about each coffee hour. Share them with anyone you think might be interested!

For questions about accessibility or to request an accommodation, contact Lenny Orlov (206-386-1521 or agefriendly@seattle.gov) at least three days prior to the event.

Age Friendly Seattle Coffee Hours are held on the third Thursday of every month at the Central Building and on other dates in Seattle neighborhoods.

The events bring community elders closer to City officials to explore topics of interest. Presentations often include cutting edge information about healthy aging, legal and planning issues, and more.

Participants learn about City programs and services, and officials hear from their constituents.

Coffee and refreshments are served.
