

City of Seattle Notice of Judicial Vacancy

As a result of Judge Steven Rosen's unopposed campaign for King County Superior Court, there will be a vacant judicial position in the City of Seattle Municipal Court. Qualifications for the position of judge in Washington State may be found in RCW 35.20.150 and in Seattle Municipal Code (SMC) 3.33.110.

Applications are being accepted to fill the unexpired judicial term, which ends January 13, 2019.

The Judicial Evaluation Questionnaire is available on the Seattle City Clerk's website at seattle.gov/clerk. Individuals who meet the qualifications and are interested in being considered for the judicial appointment shall submit their completed questionnaire and supplemental materials electronically to the Seattle City Clerk no later than August 19, 2016, at the following email address:

JudicialVacancy@Seattle.gov

Individuals who have fully completed the questionnaire and provided the requested materials will be considered. All candidates are strongly encouraged to seek judicial evaluations from the King County Bar Association and specialty bar associations.

A selection committee has been established with representatives from the King County Bar Association, Loren Miller Bar Association, Latina/o Bar Association of Washington, Asian Bar Association of Washington, QLaw, and the GLBT Bar Association of Washington.

The Committee will forward a pool of candidate nominees to Mayor Edward B. Murray for his selection of an appointee, subject to confirmation by the City Council.

Any additional vacancies that arise during Mayor Murray's first term will be filled utilizing the candidate list submitted to Mayor Murray by the Committee.
