“I feel a special connection to the Southwest. I was born and raised in Utah and identify as Chicana. My twin sister and I were raised by a strong and loving father who was also a shaman to many in the community. He taught us a keen awareness of the power of nature and the spirit world connected to nature and our culture. I imbue my oil paintings with sensuous joy which I feel for life which renders each painting a celebration. I hope my paintings are invitations to others to reflect through the empowering lens of gratitude.” ~artist statement
