October 17, 2018

5:00pm – 6:30pm

The 2100 Building, 2100 24th Ave. S, Seattle, WA 98144 – The Art Room (3rd Flr.)

About the Facilitator

Toi Sing Woo is a woman of color, immigrant and founder of New Directions Consulting (NDC). She has been a social and racial justice activist since in her early teens. Toi is a graduate of University of Illinois. Toi believes social changes cannot be achieved without working towards racial justice. Currently, she is working to abolish the death penalty, judicial and criminal reform and providing mentorship to organizations in the process of going through their anti-racism organizational change. She has created and still creating training curriculum, anti-racism strategic & implementation plans, change teams, hiring practices, and special events for local and national organizations.

About FIUTS International Ambassadors

FIUTS (Foundation for International Understanding through Students) connects students to local and global communities through diplomacy, dialogue, and action. FIUTS offers short-term cross-cultural and leadership development experiences for visiting students from around the world in Seattle, Washington. These programs provide an unforgettable opportunity to discover the Pacific Northwest community, make international friends, and enhance leadership skills.

Learning Objectives

- Deepen one's understanding on race and racism
