Future Women Leaders In Law Enforcement

Week-long program April 10-15th, 2017

Learn about policing and meet women law enforcement leaders during a week-long program hosted with our partner, South Seattle College.

Classes Monday through Saturday from 9AM - 3PM at South Seattle College.

Classes are free and are open to young women between 16-20 years old.

Priority given to young women entering the 12th grade during the school year 2016-2017.

Young women from a wide variety of cultures and backgrounds are encouraged to apply. South Seattle College will provide workforce readiness assistance during the program.
