

Save the date!

City of Seattle 2019 IPM Continuing Education and Recertification Seminar

Scary Bugs and Vanishing Pesticides: IPM in an Ever-Changing Landscape

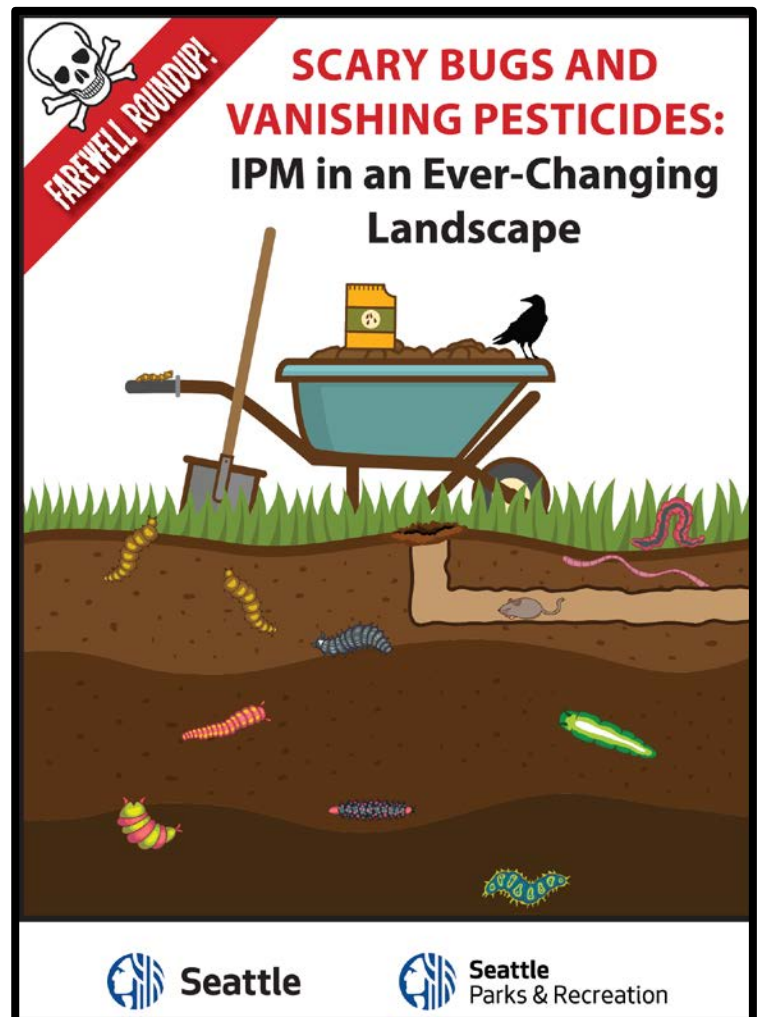

October 29 and 30, 2019, at Brockey Conference Center, South Seattle College

6000 16th Avenue SW, Seattle, WA 98106

Registration /information at www.seattle.gov/util/LandscapeProfessionals online registration will open in early September

Scheduled Sessions

- Pest and Diseases of Pacific Northwest Native Plants
- The challenges of controlling the turf-eating pest, the European chafer
- Ticks of the Pacific Northwest
- A panel of local experts offers new perspectives and results of alternative weed control strategies both old and new, including foam weeding, heat treatments and sheet mulching
- Co-existing with beavers in the urban City Parks: Management methods to avoid damage to landscapes and trees
- Examples of dangerous weeds and how to manage these in public landscapes
- IPM for urban food and community gardens
- Information we can use to manage native nuisance wildlife

And much more...stay tuned for the final schedule and registration in early September

WSDA Pesticide License recertification credits will be available.