

The Seattle Youth Commission is a group of 25 Seattleites aged 13-19 from all over the city who are appointed by the Mayor and City Council to connect youth to their elected officials.

What We Do

- We discuss issues with youth across the city by hosting Youth Community Meetings
- We work with local elected officials from the City, school district and other municipal bodies to address issues that are important to youth

Time Commitment

- Attendance of one weekly meeting from September 2015 through June 2016
- Attendance of other meetings, events and trainings as needed.
