

Strategic Plan Implementation | SPR Role in Crisis Response

Over the past 18 months, our City has faced multiple parallel crises including the COVID-19 pandemic, an ensuing economic crisis, a nationwide racial reckoning, and the ongoing threat of climate change. This moment provides us with an opportunity to learn from our past, consider how needs have shifted in this current context, and make community-informed decisions as we identify short-term implementation priorities for our 2020-2032 Strategic Plan. This activity is designed to collect feedback and help SPR better understand the current needs of our communities. As we consider how SPR can play a role in helping our community respond to these parallel crises, we are seeking your feedback in four key topic areas.

Within Seattle Parks and Recreation’s mission, what can we do to support...

PUBLIC HEALTH AND WELL-BEING

... improved the health outcomes of our communities, especially for those who are most marginalized?

... programming that is culturally relevant and responsive to changing community need?

RACIAL RECKONING

... a safer and more welcoming environment for all, particularly BIPOC?

... elevated community and BIPOC voice in project planning and delivery?

... engagement with historically under- and mis-served communities?

ECONOMIC RECOVERY

... removing barriers to programs and services?

... meaningful and rewarding career pathways?

... additional partnerships to expand our reach?

IMPACTS OF CLIMATE CHANGE

... adaptation to climate change impacts, particularly among those most vulnerable?

... reducing our carbon footprint?
