FINAL NOTICE: Upper Queen Anne Parking Changes

Dear Upper Queen Anne residents, businesses, and property owners,

In June 2008, the Seattle Department of Transportation (SDOT) launched its Community Parking Program efforts in Upper Queen Anne to work with the neighborhood to improve on-street parking.

Since then, SDOT staff have attended several community meetings, conducted a parking study, developed proposed changes, and received feedback from the neighborhood.

After reviewing and considering community comments, SDOT has developed a final parking plan. Take a look inside for details of the plan and when changes will take effect.

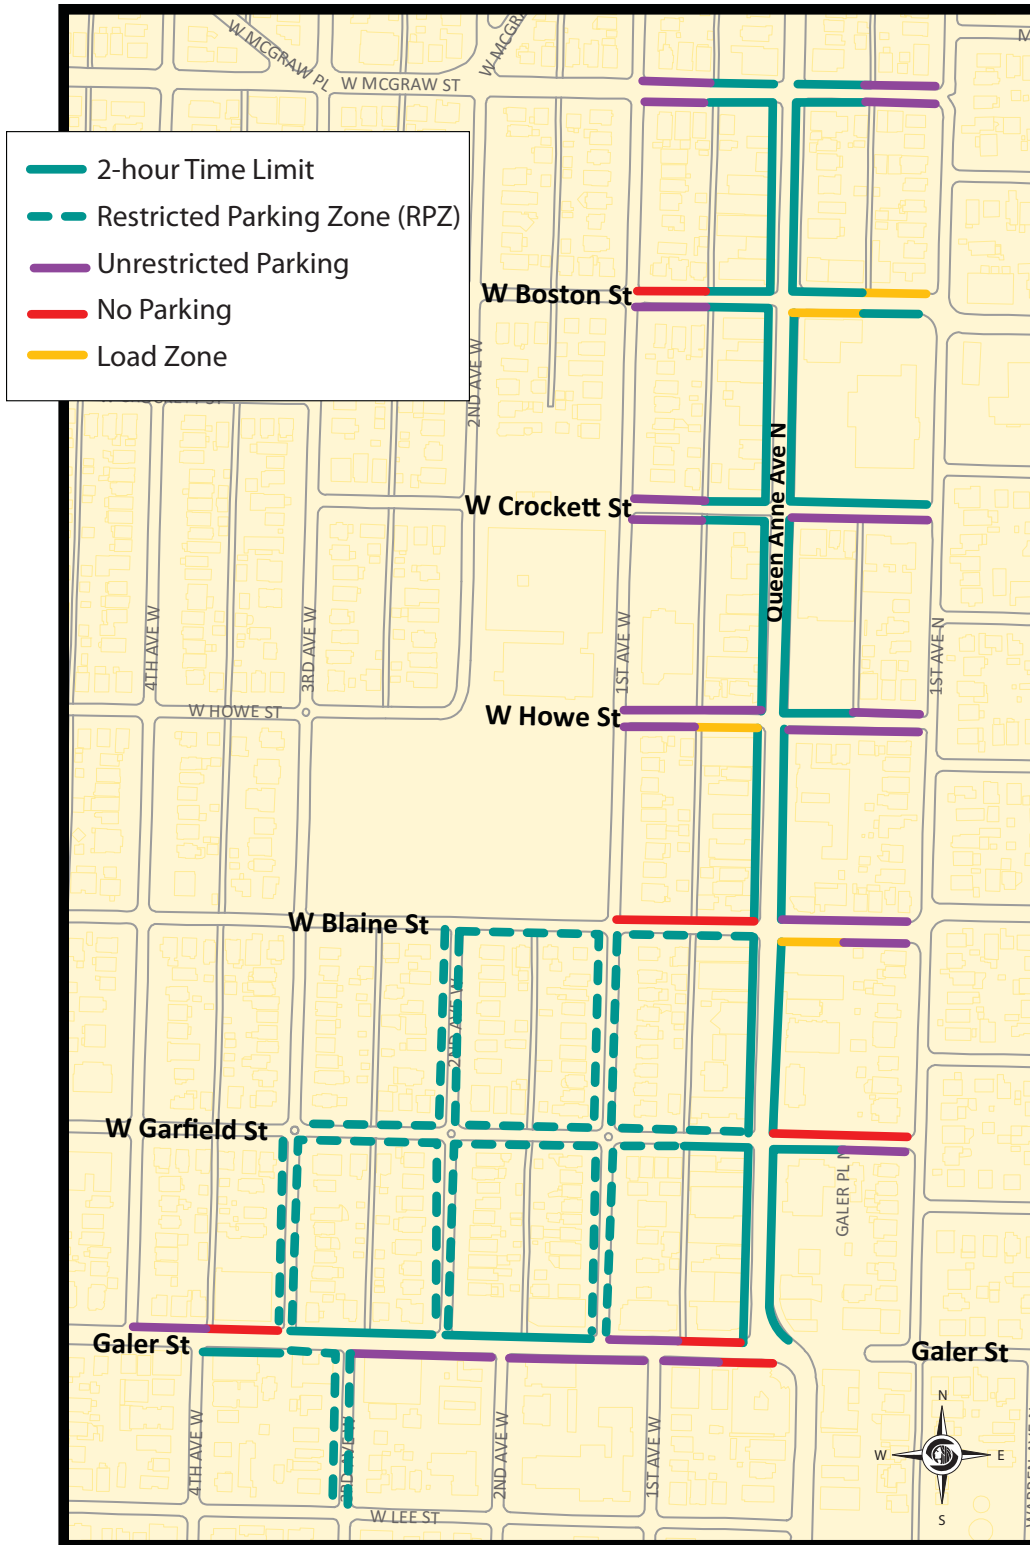

Sincerely,

Charles A. Bookman

CHARLES BOOKMAN,
SDOT Director of Traffic Management

FINAL ON-STREET PARKING CHANGES IN UPPER QUEEN ANNE

NOTE: This map shows general parking regulations at the block level; it does not show all parking space types on each block. SDOT will not change load zones, unless requested by the adjacent property owner. For a more detailed map, please contact project manager Allison Schwartz (contact info below).

WHAT'S NEW?

- 2-hour time limit signs on Queen Anne Ave N and nearby east-west streets
- 2-hour time limit signs adjacent to retail uses on W Galer Street

WHEN IS THIS HAPPENING?

- JULY: New parking sign locations marked on the sidewalk
- AUGUST: New signs will be installed
