COMMENTS:

I like the design aesthetic of KOMPAN's plan. That Explodes Down looks like there's a ship rope through the center w/ lots of play value.

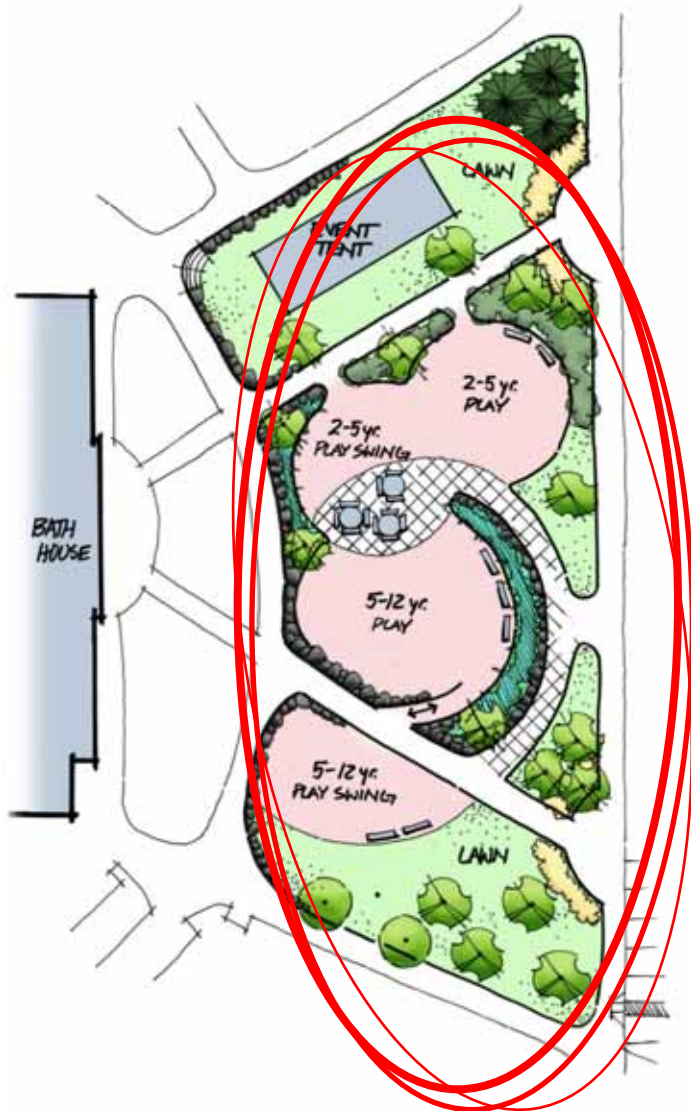

Many of the other options look cheap → too many shade structures + post + platform structures.

For both options, I prefer a high quality product based on a design knowledge of how kids play. The play value of each plan matters as does environmental standards of the company. Quality of materials, too ...

- Like different ages to feel like they can still play together.
- Drawn to bubble concept but like the central access of Squid.
- Like the picnic tables in the parent plaza.
- Like idea of slightly raised grade.
- Concern with having primary, loud colors next to the event space.
- Like ADA in the middle.
- Climbing, spinning, swings and slides.
