Department Description

The Educational and Developmental Services Levy (more commonly known as the Families and Education Levy), approved by voters in 1997, provides $69 million over seven years for school- and community-based programming that helps ensure that Seattle's children and youth are safe, healthy, ready to learn, and successful in school. This programming also helps to strengthen parent, school, and community partnerships that support children and youth.

The Department of Neighborhoods/Office for Education administers the Levy. Implementing departments are Department of Neighborhoods, Human Services Department, Public Health - Seattle & King County, and Seattle Parks and Recreation.

The Families and Education Levy funds 21 programs that provide critical health and social services to children, youth, and families. A portion of Levy funds goes directly to Seattle Public Schools via contracts with the above-mentioned departments.

Note: The budget control level for the Levy is a unique program in either Department of Neighborhoods, Human Services Department, Public Health-Seattle & King County, or Seattle Parks and Recreation. Positions listed are paid for by the Families and Education Levy, but authorized in each department's position list.

Proposed Policy and Program Changes

Action was taken in 2002 to program $3,272,317 of accumulated fund balance in the Families and Education Levy. Due to higher than anticipated interest revenues and property tax collections, additional funds were appropriated to existing and Levy-related programs. The majority was appropriated (through Ordinance #120832) to increase the budget allocation of eight teen health centers and two middle school wellness centers; open two new teen centers at Ingraham High School and Ballard High School, and one new middle school wellness center; and increase services at Madison Middle School and New Options Middle School.

The 2003 Adopted Budget appropriated $215,000 to fund the Rainier Beach Teen Health Center from the Education Levy rather than from the General Fund: all the teen and middle school health centers are now funded through the Levy. This funding will continue through the end of the Levy in June 2005.

The 2003 Adopted Budget created the Family Partnerships Project, a combination of the existing Volunteer and Family Partnership Project and the Family Involvement Project, to increase the ability of individual schools to form effective partnerships with all families.

Education Levy

Because the Families and Education Levy is up for renewal in the fall of 2004, an extensive outreach effort to design the new Levy proposal is underway. A citizens' advisory committee has been formed to recommend service priorities should the levy be renewed. The advisory committee's recommendations are due to the Levy Oversight Committee in December 2003. Mayor Nickels will present a levy renewal package to the City Council in February 2004.

Department of Neighborhoods/Office for Education - Education, Children, and Families Program: Middle School Support Project

Purpose Statement

The purpose of the Middle School Support Project is to help 20 schools implement strategies designed to meet the developmental needs of adolescents and to improve school climate. The majority of funding pays for student and family support services. Activities and programs such as counseling, mentoring, extracurricular activities, service learning, life and social skills training, home and school communication, parent involvement, and staff development are funded through this program.

Program Summary

Increase expenditures for Middle School Support Project by $266,000 in order to move the Community Learning Centers and the match paid to the Seattle School District for the City's portion of the cost of the Seattle School's Community Learning Center coordinator position from General Subfund onto the Families and Education Levy. Funds are from the projected Levy fund balance. Increase Middle School Support by $29,150 in order to move the costs of security for the After School Activities Program at 10 middle schools from the federal Local Law Enforcement Grant (LLEBG) onto the Families and Education Levy. The LLEBG is substantially reduced in 2004.
