

Making Development Benefit All Families

A Brown Bag Forum

Forum Presenters: Michael Ramos, Church Council of Greater Seattle Director of Social Justice Ministries; Leslie Moody, People for Working Families (PWF) Executive Director; John Goldstein, PWF Program Director; and Lee Strieb, Change to Win Federation Research Coordinator

Sponsors: Council President Nick Licata with Councilmembers Sally Clark, Richard Conlin, David Della, Jan Drago, Jean Godden, Richard J. McIver, Tom Rasmussen, and Peter Steinbrueck

Friday
April 27th
12:00 PM to
1:30 PM

Council Chambers

City Hall 2nd Floor
600 4th Avenue
entrance at 5th Ave

For more information, contact
Lisa Herbold, Aide to Council
President Nick Licata
(206) 684-8803
lisa.herbold@seattle.gov

or

David West
Director, Seattle Alliance for Good
Jobs and Housing for Everyone -
SAGE
(206) 441-0499
www.seattlegoodjobs.org

To watch the brown bag live
please go to website below:
[http://www.seattlechannel.org/
viewer_live.asp](http://www.seattlechannel.org/viewer_live.asp) or you can listen at:
206-684-8566

Seattle's undergoing a wave of development; city leaders and citizens are asking: can development work for individuals and families of all incomes?

Recommendations will be offered by national experts towards a more livable Seattle.

Development partnerships between developers, communities, and government can address possible impacts upon housing, employment, and our environment.

Development partnerships can help:

- Increase the affordable housing supply so low-wage service and retail workers don't move further from jobs, travel long distances, and contribute to sprawl.
- Keep wages and benefits from slipping for lower-wage workers.
- Minimize new demand on taxpayer-funded health care.
- Improve urban livability and environmental sustainability by increasing density with community mitigation.