My home is a stones throw away from the proposed site and if it were to be chosen, not only would my quality of life be forever altered, but the property value of my home would surly be drastically impacted. This would likely lead to me owing more on my condo than it is worth. When I look at the four sites it appears to me that the North Aurora site is by far the smallest and most densely populated with residents. When you look at the aerial photos of the Meyers and West Marginal Way sites it becomes quite clear that those two sites would have a very minimal impact on residents and communities. The N Aurora location, by contrast, is surrounded by residential neighborhoods that would be devastated if the jail was put in their backyards.
