Parks announces schedule of 27 public meetings to hear from communities on activities and hours for community centers, consistent with 2012 budget proposal

Parks and Recreation is holding public meetings to hear from communities about what activities and hours they would like to see at their nearest community center, consistent with the proposal in the Mayor's proposed 2012 budget that would set up geographical groups of community centers whose staff would work together to provide services to that geographic area of the city. For more information on the proposal, please go to <http://seattle.gov/parks/centers/operations.htm>.
