SAFETY FIRST
In Seattle, it’s our goal to end traffic deaths and serious injuries on our streets every 20 years. Building protected bike lanes and neighborhood greenways is an essential component of that vision. Follow the rules of the road, whether you’re driving, biking, or walking.

SAFETY TIPS
- Make eye contact with people driving
- Ride at least 3 feet from parked cars
- Avoid being in blind spots, especially at intersections
- Use hand signals to communicate with other travelers
- Never ride against traffic
- Helmets are required by law in Seattle

SEATTLE BICYCLING LAWS

SEATTLE greenway programs and policies:

- People biking are not allowed to ride more than 2 abreast.
- People biking are required to use lights and reflectors at night.
- Bike shares, you can take a short trip easily, affordable, efficient way to get around.
- Never ride on sidewalks.
- People biking are allowed to ride more than 2 abreast.
- Come to a complete stop at red traffic signals and stop signs.
- More information:
  - A list of Seattle’s bike laws can be found at seattle.gov/transportation/bikecode.htm.
  - If your bike is stolen, email the Seattle Police Department at findmybike@seattle.gov.

BMP IMPLEMENTATION PLAN
The Implementation Plan, which is updated every five years, identifies the projects and programs that together make significant improvements in safety, comfort, and connectivity. This year, there are over 26 miles of protected bike lanes and 90 miles of neighborhood greenways in the city. To find the status of projects, strategies, and programs can be found here: seattle.gov/transportation/bikefacilities.htm. Stay tuned for the 2015 update to the Implementation Plan!

GREENE LAKE PROJECT
The Green Lake Project is a PeopleForBikes program, helping cities build better bike lanes to create low-stress streets. They work with local officials to turn up a map of low-stress bike routes. They promote low-stress bike routes in cities and towns across the country, with the goal of connecting cities across the country. PeopleForBikes is a nonprofit organization that promotes bike riding and access to bike routes. PeopleForBikes is a nonprofit organization that promotes bike riding and access to bike routes.
