

Project overview

Starting in mid-2018, Seattle Public Utilities and King County will begin work near 24th and Shilshole avenues NW to prepare for upcoming Ship Canal Water Quality Project tunnel construction.

Work will include:

- Building a new 24th Avenue NW public access pier to remove soil by barge during tunnel boring
- Removing onsite contaminated soil
- Installing water, electrical, gas, drainage, and wastewater utilities in 24th Avenue NW to support future pump station infrastructure and the tunnel boring machine
- Removing in-water debris to enhance wildlife habitat
- Installing public art from local artists

What to expect during construction

- 24th Avenue NW Pedestrian Pier closure through 2022
- Increased truck traffic
- Marine construction activities in the Ship Canal and Salmon Bay from October to early April to minimize impacts to fish
- Temporary lane closures on 24th Avenue NW
- Construction vehicles and equipment in the area
- Parking and access restrictions along 24th Avenue NW
- Construction related noise
- Project neighbors and stakeholders will receive regular updates about work happening in the area

Background

The Ship Canal Water Quality Project builds a storage tunnel to reduce polluted water overflows into the Ship Canal from Ballard, Fremont, Wallingford, and north Queen Anne. The 2.7-mile, 18'10" diameter tunnel will temporarily hold more than 29 million gallons of stormwater and sewage during heavy rains. When the storm passes, flows will be sent to King County's West Point Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Projected timeline

Construction will begin in summer 2018 and is anticipated to be complete in Summer 2019.
