

Green Lake Community Center and Evans Pool

HELP DESIGN YOUR NEW FACILITY!

Seattle Parks and Recreation is happy to be moving forward with the replacement of the Green Lake Community Center and Evans Pool. Given the overwhelming support for the current location and the site's connections to transit and the greater Green Lake community, Seattle Parks and Recreation has made the decision to locate the new facility in the area where the existing center sits today. We heard from you and the next step is to gather your feedback on the three site concepts and locations developed for the new facility.

Please join the Online Open House and live Online Public Meeting as we introduce the three concepts and locations, with different building orientation and gather your input on community center and pool programmatic preferences. This is an opportunity for the community to hear from the design team, Miller Hull, and inform the design of building spaces in the new facility. It is also an important opportunity for the design team and Seattle Parks and Recreation to hear your thoughts about the design and programming at new facility. Please participate and learn about the next steps for the future Green Lake Community Center and Pool.

As Seattle Parks and Recreation plans for the new center and pool, we will continue with the facility stabilization work in 2020 to ensure the building is functional and usable for the public until the new center can be constructed. Stabilization work involves replacing the boilers and the air handling system at the facility. For more information please contact Garrett Farrell at garrett.farrell@seattle.gov or 206-233-7921.
