This project provides for project management and consultant costs associated with the City's involvement in the redevelopment of the former Public Safety Building site between James and Cherry Streets and Third and Fourth Avenues, the final project completing the Civic Center Master Plan. The City has contracted to sell the site to Triad Development, which will develop a mixed use complex including office, retail, and residential space as well as public and private parking and a "common" area that will be a public amenity. Funding for this project may also seed start-up costs for programming, operations, and maintenance.

This project, part of the 2003 Fire Facilities and Emergency Response Levy Program, renovates 18,800 square feet at Fire Station 2, which is a historic landmark. In addition to a seismic retrofit and complete renovation to support modern firefighting equipment and functions, the building will house a new wellness and fitness center in 15,400 square feet previously occupied by the Emergency Operations Center and Fire Alarm Center. The project also provides temporary quarters for firefighters while the fire station is under construction. The renovated building will protect firefighters in the event of an earthquake and allow them to provide high-quality emergency services to the Belltown community.

This project provides planning, programming, and design of a new correctional facility for the City of Seattle and other partner jurisdictions. Municipal misdemeanants are primarily housed by King County under an interlocal agreement. King County has notified many cities, including Seattle, that the County will not renew the agreement when it expires in 2015. The current funding supports initial planning and design, including site selection and preparation of an Environmental Impact Study. Funding for design and construction will be determined after a site is selected. No decisions have been made on the siting, timing, or management of a new facility.
