chapter, that the alleged acts would meet the definition of retaliation and the alleged acts occurred within the proscribed time period. A complaint shall not be rejected as insufficient because of failure to include all required information so long as it substantially satisfies the informational requirements necessary for the executive Director’s determination of sufficiency to be made.

a. If the complaint is found to be sufficient, the Executive Director shall investigate the complaint and endeavor to conclude that investigation within 90 days of receiving the employee’s complaint.

b. If the complaint is found insufficient, the Executive Director shall reply to the employee in writing as to why the complaint fails and dismiss the complaint.

C. Reasonable Cause Investigation - The Executive Director may investigate complaints found to be sufficient. The investigation of a sufficient complaint shall be limited to the facts alleged in the complaint and shall be conducted in an objective and impartial manner. The Executive Director shall prepare a written determination which shall include a determination as to whether there is or is not reasonable cause to believe that retaliation has been committed, or is being committed, and that conduct protected under this subchapter was a contributing factor.

3. Any settlement between a City department and the protected employee must include a provision in which the employee releases the City from further liability for acts giving rise to the retaliation complaint in order for the employee to obtain the benefits of the settlement.

2. All cases shall be governed by the Hearing Examiner Rules of Practice and Procedure. The Hearing Examiner may utilize of promulgate such additional administrative rules as needed to aid in the Determination of Reasonable Cause.

B. Proof. The burden of proof in any proceeding against a department for a Determination of Reasonable Cause is as follows:

1. If the Cooperating Employee is shown to have been subjected to an act defined in this sub-chapter as retaliation, it is presumed that retaliation prohibited by this sub-chapter has occurred.
   a.) The department presumed to have taken retaliatory action under subsection (1) of this section may rebut that presumption by a preponderance of the evidence that the employee’s status as a Cooperating Employee was not a contributory factor, and that the action taken was not merely pre-textual. Evidence of a series of documented personnel problems or a single, egregious event, or other evidence to support a finding that the departmental conduct or actions were based on wholly independent, separate and legitimate reasons shall be admitted. The Executive Director shall be allowed to present evidence to counter the departmental assertion.

C. Findings of the Hearing Examiner. After hearing the evidence, the Hearing Examiner shall issue written findings of fact and conclusions of law as to whether this sub-chapter was violated.

1. If the Hearing Examiner concludes that a department retaliated against a Cooperating Employee in violation of this subchapter, the Hearing Examiner may order the appropriate remedy, including but not limited to, compensatory damages including the restoration of employment, job classification, seniority rights, back pay, benefits, and any increases in compensation that would have occurred and interest if applicable, admittance to participation in a guidance, apprentice training or retraining program, discipline of an employee who was found to have retaliated or such other actions as the parties agree, except that any award for non-compensatory damages may not exceed $10,000.00, and such other actions as the Hearing Examiner may decide.
