

The journey to better mental health starts with a phone call

Your medical benefits

Your Aetna® medical plan pays benefits for treatment and services related to mental health for you or a covered family member. Need guidance to get started? Talk with a behavioral health customer service representative 24/7. They can help you understand your benefits and resources, find a provider, and talk through your care options. If you have an immediate need, they'll guide and connect you with a behavioral health resource. Just call Aetna Member Services at 1-866-983-0051 (TTY: 711).

If you or a loved one is experiencing a mental health crisis or emergency, call 911 immediately.

A better day starts when you reach out for help

When life gets overwhelming, it's good to know help is available. You may be dealing with a new job or a new baby, a personal or family crisis, or just the stress of daily life. Whatever the issue, the City of Seattle and Aetna® are here for you with services and support. Get to know what's available for your mental well-being.

Depending on your needs, you have access to licensed psychiatrists, psychologists, counselors, social workers, and marriage and family therapists.

These professionals can help with issues such as:

- Stress and anxiety
- Depression
- Substance abuse and addiction
- Family and parenting issues
- Grief and loss
- Eating disorders, and others

In addition to choosing the type of behavioral health professional to work with, you may choose how you want to connect with them:

In person

By phone

By web video

Aetna is the brand name used for products and services provided by one or more of the Aetna group of companies, including Aetna Life Insurance Company and its affiliates (Aetna).
