JOAN HANSON

Ms. Hanson is a current resident of Stendall Place, a town home community located west of the hospital. She has served on the Stendall Place HOA board for many years and currently serves as the board Vice President. She has been involved in health care throughout her professional career and has an interest in healthcare services offered by UW Medicine and the future development of the Northwest Hospital Campus.

SHAWN MACPHERSON

Ms. MacPherson is the third generation of her family to live on Haller Lake, on the lot that her Grandfather bought in 1918. She can remember watching Northwest Hospital being built when in grade school, and later going over to look at the babies in the nursery. She has been a board member of the Haller Lake Community Club for the last 15 years and is their representative on the DAC. The Haller Lake Community Club has been in existence since 1922 and gives the community a united voice with the City when issues arise that affect the quality of life for their neighborhood.

Ms. MacPherson is a third generation owner of a family Real Estate business, MacPherson's Property Management and Real Estate, a WSU graduate, and the mother of 3 sons. Her grandchildren also live in the neighborhood. Ms. MacPherson hopes their experience living here will be as positive as it has been for her.

SCOTT SHEEHAN

Mr. Sheehan is the General Manager at Evergreen Washelli. He has been with Evergreen for over 17 years. SUSAN WHITE

Ms. White purchased her home in the Haller Lake neighborhood in 1979 and has been observant of all its changes over the years. Northwest Hospital has been a great neighbor and has responded to our concerns during the 35 years she has lived across the street. She is interested in being on the committee because she has always appreciated the pastoral qualities of the hospital grounds and hopes to retain those qualities in the future. 35 years ago, the neighborhood was far less urban than it is now, and while she recognizes that the hospital must expand, she also values the effort to keep neighborhood residents involved. Ms. White's background, for 30 years, was as a construction contracting professional with the City of Seattle, therefore she is very familiar with the urbanization of neighborhoods.

Mr. Mitton thrives at fostering relationships with clients and the community to integrate their ideas into accessible parks and open spaces. As a board member, past president, and nine-year member of Seattle's Friends of Olmsted Parks (FSOP), Mr. Mitton shares their philosophy of preserving landscape heritage and providing open space for everyone. He now serves on the board of advisors for FSOP and is currently working on the Olmsted200 Tree Project to identify implementable opportunities to reinvigorate Seattle's historic parks.
