- Submit a letter with your park use application explaining the purpose of the event and proposed outreach to that neighborhood.
- Event must be based around a theatrical, musical, etc. performance.
- Prior to final permit must show you have contacted two local neighborhood community groups near your desired park and promoted your event (see back page for support on connecting with local neighborhoods).
- Amplified sound is not a major component of your event.
- Money will not be collected.
- No more than six (6) practices and six (6) performances allowed.
- Insurance will be required prior to permit, if you have any set up.

WHY IS THIS OFFERED?

Activating parks with performing arts opportunities helps build community and encourages users to enjoy public spaces. While Seattle has many amphitheaters, very few of them actually get used for this purpose, and Seattle Parks and Recreation is committed to supporting community members and groups in utilizing these resources.
