23 incompatible with City goals related to development in the floodplains.

1 C. Since that time, the City has proposed permanent floodplain development regulations
2 that included the amendments proposed in the interim regulations and additional code

5 regulations will not be completed before the expiration of the interim regulations on August 18, 6 2022.

7 D. The City’s SEPA decision published in July 2021 was appealed to the Hearing
8 Examiner by the Port of Seattle (“Port”) and Port and City staff have been working to resolve the 10 understanding (MOU).

11 E. The City withdrew its SEPA decision in February 2022 in order to reissue an updated 12 SEPA analysis on the amended proposed permanent Floodplain Development Regulations that 13 address some or all issues raised by the Port of Seattle.

14 F. Revised Code of Washington (RCW) 36.70A.390 authorizes the City to renew interim 15 regulations by ordinance for a six-month period.

16 Section 2. Pursuant to RCW 36.70A.390, the interim regulations first set forth in 17 Ordinance 126113, and as amended by Ordinance 126536, shall be extended and in effect for a 18 period of six months from the date this ordinance becomes effective, and shall automatically 19 expire after the six-month period unless the same is extended as provided by statute, or unless 20 terminated sooner by the City Council.

1 Section 3. This ordinance, which is not subject to referendum, shall take effect and be in
