Proposed zoning changes

Neighborhood Residential (NR)

NR (formerly called Single Family) is Seattle's lowest-density residential zone. It allows a mix of primarily attached and detached homes. Updated NR zoning would allow more middle housing types and fulfill requirements in House Bill 1110.

Lowrise 1 (LR1)

LR1 is a low-density residential zone that allows townhouse-style development at a three-story

Lowrise 2 (LR2)

LR2 is a residential zone that allows multifamily development up to four stories.

Lowrise 3 (LR3)

LR3 is a residential zone that allows multifamily development up to five stories.

Midrise (MR1 or MR2)

MR1 is a proposed new residential zone that would allow multifamily development up to six stories. MR2, currently simply called "Midrise," is a residential zone that allows multifamily development up to eight stories.

Neighborhood Commercial (NC)

NC zones are mixed-use areas that allow a range of retail, office, institutional, and residential uses.

Commercial (C)

C zones are mixed-use areas that allow a range of retail, office, institutional, light industrial, and autooriented commercial uses.

No rezone proposed

Growth Strategy place types

Regional Center

Most densely populated neighborhoods, with a mix of housing, office, retail, entertainment, and access to regional transit. These areas can include zoning for high-rise towers.

Urban Center

Areas zoned to accommodate a mix of housing, jobs, shops, and services with access to frequent transit. Residential and mixed-use structures up to eight stories are allowed, with higher densities around light rail stations.

Center expansion

Proposed expansion of a Regional or Urban Center

Neighborhood Center

These areas are a new designation situated in residential areas across the city and designed to accommodate a diverse mix of moderate-density housing around existing commercial districts and frequent transit.
