As early as the week of February 4, expect an extended closure of the west side of the 23rd Ave S and S Judkins St intersection. Crews will be placing conduit across S Judkins St and rebuilding the corners. There is not enough room to safely do this work and keep that side of the intersection open.

The closure will last up to 2 weeks. During this time, you will need to use a different route around the intersection (see map on back).

This closure will not happen until the SR99 tunnel opens.
